

Cities Alliance Cities for Women Global Programme

Dear Reader,

As COVID-19 continues to affect communities, the need to support women and girls in cities has become more important than ever. Participatory planning processes are crucial to engage citizens in the construction of more liveable and inclusive cities. Yet, women are not sufficiently considered in such processes. Over the past few months, we have been working with women, especially from marginalised communities, across different cities, listening to their voices and allowing them to share their views and experience to inform urban policies.

GENDER SENSITIVE CITY PLANNING

Cities for Women: Global Programme Presentation

UNOPS Insights: To build equal cities, we need equal voices

Fostering Gender Equality for Climate Adaptation

Tunisia: Co-designing public spaces with women in the Medina of Tunis

Tunisia: Street Art to Raise Awareness on Violence Against Women

Cities Alliance and UN Women Event: City Planning For Gender Equality

INCLUSIVE AND SAFE PUBLIC SPACES

WOMEN AND INFORMALITY

Women Engagement City Profile: "Women Talking, Kampala Listening"

EU Policy Brief: Ghost Citizens, Women and Informality in Cities

Liberia: Gender Mapping in Informal Communities

Would you like to know more? Visit our website or contact us at gender@citiesalliance.org